We are pleased to invite you to a symposium in honor of

Dr. Shirley Sharon-Zisser’s new book

Critical Essays on Shakespeare’s A Lover’s Complaint: Suffering Ecstasy

Psychoanalysis and Literature

Tuesday, January 16th 16:00 at Rosenberg 001

16:00-16:20 Opening Remarks
- Chair: Dr. Milette Shamir, Chair, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University
- Prof. Hans Wirth-Nesher, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University

16:20-16:40 Literature/Lituraterre
- "Grasping the Real: Interpreting with Lacan and Joyce," Yotvat Elberbaum, Psychoanalyst, Member of the New Lacanian School
- "Shy'm Torah, י""ש שלמה שור-יפה," 홈페이지: י""ש שלמה שלמה שור-יפה, הרב אבשלום אלברם, עם עובד להמנה

Paper Panels
- Chair: Dr. Shirley Sharon-Zisser, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University

16:40-16:50 Literature and Psychoanalysis in the Visual Field
- "Objects of the Scopic Drive: the Gaze, the Stain and Marie Cardinal’s (maybe) Excessive Vision," Anat Richter, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University

16:50-17:00 Break - Banquet, Fruits and Wine

17:00-17:20 Psychoanalysis and Rhetoric
- "From Rhet-Sense to Nonsense in the Rhetorical Dimension of Femininity," Alex Carme, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University
- "No mask like open truth to cover lies: Falacy in Cogreve’s The Double Dealer and the Vicissitudes of the Signifier," Zabre Dan, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University

17:20-17:40 Literature and Topology
- "Holes in Virginia Wolf’s The Waves," Elan Keterar, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University
- "Topologically Writing the Non-Ceded Object in Edgar Allan Poe’s The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym," Tamar Gerstenhaber, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University

17:40-17:50 Break

17:50-18:10 Psychoanalysis and Poetry
- "Rhyme and Time," Roi Tartakovsky, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University
- "Effects of the Real in Pastoral," Li Shir, Department of English and American Studies, Tel Aviv University

18:10-18:20 ungalow שלמה ואבשלום שלמה, עם עובד להמנה

18:20-18:30 Break

18:30-20:00 Responses and Discussion

We gratefully acknowledge support from:
The Cohen-Porter Fund for the Department of English, Tel Aviv University
The Forum for Psychoanalysis, Philosophy and Culture, Tel Aviv University