The following format is intended not as a formal requirements but as guidelines for thinking that might be of use to graduate students as they prepare their research proposals and is subject to modification by thesis supervisors according to the specific coordinates of each case.